A N D this Witness

On oath says :

George
Jacob
Bonebrake

of 12314
Georgia
Avenue,
Silver Spring
Maryland.

I have already sworn an affidavit
in these proceedings.

I am a finger-print
examined

George Jacob Bonebrake

M.C.A. 9(6) - 12.7

DEPOSITION

(Inner Sheet)

M.P.-66-79084/20M (4)

in the Federal Department,
Washington, D.C. have held that position since February 1941.

During that time I have made millions of finger-print comparisons
for identification purposes.

On April 5
1968 I received
George Jacob Bonchale

a Remington Rifle number 461476

A Redfield
telescopic ~~sight~~ sight A 17350

and a pair of Bushnell binoculars
DP 408664.

I examined each of those for latent
finger prints.
I found one
on the rifle one on the

George Jacob Bonhake

telescopic sight & one
on the binoculars.

On April 19th 1968 I compared those three latent fingerprints
with the known
fingerprints
of James Earl Ray from the official of the Los Angeles
Police Department
George Jacob Bonihake

I found that the prints on each of these items had been made by the same individual as had made the prints listed as those of James Earl Ray.

I have
prepared

George Jacob Bonbrake

Comparison
photographs.
I now produce photographic
enlargements, one portion being labelled
"Latent finger print 1" as an enlargement of the latent
finger print
on the rifle.
— another
being labelled
"ink finger print 1" as an enlargement
George Jacob Bonhake

of the left thumb print appears on the finger print card from the officials of
Los Angeles
Police Department.
— this Bow Street.

Exhibit 6.

I found the ~~same~~ characteristic points
of identity between these two prints

George Jacob Bonihake

I also produce on a similar card
a comparison of the finger print found on the telescopic sight. — I found in respect of that eleven points of identity —
this ~~Bow~~ Street
Exhibit 7
I did the same in

George Jacob Bonbrake

respect of the points found on the binoculars.
I found eleven points here
I produce that cast
— ^{Bow Street} Exhibit 8.

I also
examined
the finger print files in Washington contain the finger points
George Jacob Bonchale

of James Earl
Ray taken in connection with his imprisonment in Missouri Penitentiary
in 1960.

I compared
the Los Angeles
prints with the Missouri
prints.
They were the prints of one & the same man.

George Jacob Bonchake

I now identify in the authenticated
documents before the Court the Los Angeles
prints which are Exhibit 1
to my affidavit.
Exhibit 2 to that is the Missouri
prints.

I look now at
Bow Street

George Jacob Bonebrake

Exhibit 5. I have compared those with
the Los Angeles
prints,
with the Missouri
prints,
with the latent print on the rifle with the print on the telescope
sight & with the print
on the binoculars.

Each of those
last 3 being in Bow Street
Exhibits 6, 7 & 8

George Jacob Bonbrake

and the exhibits 3, 4, 5 to my affidavit.

In my opinion these were all of one & the same man

Cross

- Examined.

My duties are confined solely to finger print work.

I have been so confined for the 25 years

George Jacob Bonchale

or more with that department.
I therefore am not brought into contact with any political aspects of the Department's work except as may be through finger points.
I do however take a personal interest in the politics
George Jacob Bonchack

of my own country
- that of an intelligent man interested in the politics that affect his country.

Dr Martin
Luther King
was a nationally known figure.
He inspired great affection with some but dislike in others though I would say
George Jacob Bonebrake

rather the former than the latter.

I have no doubt that there were in the United States people with a hearty dislike of
what Dr King
stood for.

For something like 13 or 14
years before his death
Dr King had been active

George Jacob Bonebrake

in promoting the causes he believed in.
Some of those activities had led to opposition
by other people.
And in connection with some of them I agree there was strong feeling in some of community.

George Jacob Bonbrake

I recall
reading in 1955 of a negro boycott of buses in Montgomery,
Alabama.
Dr King was,
as far as I recall, president over the committee organizing
that. The protest was I believed

George Jacob Bonebrake

raised over segregation
on the buses.
I cannot remember
whether Dr King was arrested on that occasion or whether bombs were thrown at his house.
I agree that off & on since
then Dr King

George Jacob Bonbrake

Was in the public eye.
I have read about the "Southern Christian
Leadership Conference".
I know that Dr King was one of the leaders of that. It was a body
taking part in non-violent demonstrations

George Jacob Bonbrake

Some were
by students
"sitting in"
in various places

Arising out of such
demonstrations
there ~~was~~ were ^{acts} a great deal of violence.
Because of opposition.

I agree that at various times there were arrests

George Jacob Bonebrake

and I would agree there was pretty
strong feeling
on both sides.

In the beginning,
to the best of my knowledge and belief
this body associated with Dr King was uncommitted politically
in the sense of party politics.

George Jacob Bonchack

I would agree Dr King was active most of the time from the time of the Montgomery bus boycott. There were demonstrations & sit-ins.

I recall reading of the Freedom Ride in possibly 1961. I think it was in connection

George Jacob Bondhake

with de-segregation of inter-state
transport.

There were
demonstrations against ^{Dr King} that Ride. There was violence involved in several of those
demonstrations.
I do not recall the number of arrests made.

~~About the time~~ ~~of the Freedom~~ ~~Ride~~ I agree that a more militant movement
"Black Power"
George Jacob Bonebrake

has grown up but I cannot speak of the timing. I believe that there was some disagreement between the two groups. i.e.
Dr King appeared to be opposed from two sides i.e. from those who opposed
his ideas and from those who thought he was not going far enough

George Jacob Bonbrake

I recall
slightly the March on Washington
— maybe it was in 1963.
It was a very large gathering —
I know there were mixed races in the March but could not give percentages.

I know of the Civil Rights Act

passed in 1964.
I believe.

I am sure that the pattern of events
must have had some influence on Congress but I cannot say
to what extent.

I recall
the Voting Rights Act
being passed
— maybe in 1965.

Between these two Acts I recall a March led

George Jacob Bonbrake

by Dr King from Selma to Montgomery.
A large number took part I believe. I do recall two ministers
being killed
and a lady.
I believe the Voting Rights Act was passed
after that March.
I would think that Dr King was the most well known

George Jacob Bonbrake

name in this movement.
I believe he was one of the organizers
of the Poor Peoples Crusade.

At time of his death
Dr King was in Memphis
at the time that sanitary workers were on strike.

Re-examination :-
I have expressed purely George Jacob Bonbrake

my personal views and I must not be taken to represent officially any Government
views.

I have no
knowledge of Dr King ~~ever~~ ~~being~~ at odds with the Federal Government.

I have never heard of him as a man

George Jacob Bonebrake

seek political office for himself, nor have
I heard
his name referred to ~~to~~ as ~~a~~ ~~the~~ advocating any violence.
In my mind
Dr King is ~~a~~ associated with the peaceful bring about of integration and equal

George Jacob Bonhake

Rights for Negro
