NOTE:

Nissen, on 6/2/67, advised our Dallas Office that while incarcerated at Leavenworth Penitentiary, an inmate named Leroy McManaman told Nissen that $100,000 had been offered by the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Mississippi to anyone who would kill Martin Luther King. Subsequent investigation never uncovered any information which would, in any way, verify the $100,000 offer. However, after the slaying of King, leads were set out to interview Nissen to determine if he had ever learned any more information concerning such offer. It was determined Nissen was a fugitive-parole violator, Phoenix - office of origin. On 7/31/68, Nissen telephonically contacted SA G. Wayne Mack, Phoenix Office, and arrangements were made for Nissen to surrender himself to SA Mack at St. Louis on 8/5/68. SA Mack plans to stop in St. Louis on that date enroute to an in-service class beginning 8/12/68. St. Louis being instructed to interview Nissen should he surrender as planned. This matter has been coordinated with the Special Investigative Division.

As an old traveling man, let me congratulate you on the restraint, and modesty in which you handled the Luther King incident. Nevertheless, if you can now turn the Earl Ray trial against the Communists as Arthur Hanes suggests the Reds are out to get him, it will be one of the rare accomplishments of the day. I've written (cards) to White House Ass't; CIA -- its Sunday -- if in a cooperative manner, the Reds can be exposed on a worldwide scale, it will help clarify the race riots, student unrest, etc. Also Vietnam. It is a singular opening.

1. A report dated July 12th., 1968 was received direct at this Detachment from Toronto C.I.B. General. Along with this report were two wanted posters for James Earl RAY and one photograph of a laundry mark. Paragraph twelve of this report requested that Lee's Laundry at 52 Queen Street East in Hespeler, Ontario be contacted in an attempt to determine whether or not the laundry mark in the photograph was from this business. If so, the photograph on the wanted poster was to be used to identify the owner of the clothing on which the laundry mark appeared.

16 July 68

2. Inquiries were conducted at Hespeler, Ontario where it was learned that Lee's Laundry has been closed down since some time during the fall of 1967. An exact date of the termination of the business could not be obtained as the owner of the property is absent on a two week vacation. However, the owner of Lee's Laundry was one Lee who is presently retired and is living at 909 Sanford Drive in Burlington, Ontario.

3. In view of the above, Toronto C.I.B. report dated July 12th., 1968, the photograph of the laundry mark as well as the two wanted posters for James Earl RAY are being forwarded direct to the H.C.O. i/c Hamilton Detachment. A copy of this report is also being attached for his information.

Hanes Quiet After Order On Publicity

Arthur J. Hanes, outspoken defense lawyer in the James Earl Ray case whose comments apparently led to a court crackdown on such talk was keeping quiet today.

"Just my name, rank and serial number," said Hanes when called at his Birmingham home.

NOT RECEIVED

And he hadn't yet received the crackdown order issued yesterday by Judge Preston Battle, who cited Hanes and others as having violated the court's order against publicity statements.

Judge Battle, on advice of an eight-member committee of lawyers he had appointed, cited Hanes, and also Sheriff William Morris, Memphis attorney Russell X. Thompson as violators.

PROHIBITED

The order prohibited all lawyers and officials connected with the case from making public statements relating to Ray's guilt or innocence, preparations for the trial, jurors or prospective jurors, and comments about evidence or merits of the case. Statements concerning Ray's "treatment, acts and attitudes," such as those made by Morris at a press conference last Friday, were also excluded. And interviews and news conferences were ruled out by the judge.

The Public's Right to Know Committee of the Mid-South Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, took issue with the judge in respect to the criticism of Sheriff Morris.

The committee said information given by the sheriff about the cost of Ray's confinement and the description of his jail cell "are matters of interest to the public and not directly related to the trial."

Judge Battle took no action against those cited for violations and the committee made no such recommendation.

However, the warning seemed clear that future violations could result in contempt citations punishable by jail sentences and fines.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Thanks very much for your letter of July 19, 1968, expressing your appreciation for the part we played in the handling of James Earl Ray.

We too are appreciative of the Bureau and the assistance they have always given us in matters of mutual concern. I personally shall always feel indebted to you and the Bureau for the National Academy Training I received many years ago, and it might be interesting to you to know that the note books that are completed in the National Academy are still extremely useful to me, and will be throughout my career in Law Enforcement.

Thanks again, and if I or this department can ever be of help in any way I hope you will call on us.

Sincerely,

- Reference to Toronto C.I.B. report, paragraph 12, dated 12 JUL 68, please be advised that enquiries were conducted at 5 Klauch St., Fort Erie, Ontario and it was established that one "Charlie" PONG did operate a laundry from that address, however, PONG moved from the Fort Erie area approximately five years ago and the address at 5 Klauch St. is now occupied by the Salvation Army salvage branch.
- Enquiries at the Fort Erie Municipal Office, Town Hall, Fort Erie, Ontario, established that the property at 5 Klauch Street is still owned by one Sin Hain PONG who is presently residing at 1027 Center St., Niagara Falls, Ontario. PONG moved to Niagara Falls five years ago and it is not known if he is still operating a laundry establishment.
- In view of the foregoing, the photostat copy of the report in this case, together with a photograph of the laundry mark in question, is being forwarded direct to Niagara Falls Detachment with a copy of this report.

Defense Attorney Was Armed

Hanes Carried Pistol to Shelby Jail on Visit to Ray

By ROY B. HAMILTON
Press-Scimitar Staff Writer

Arthur J. Hanes today confirmed a report that he was carrying a pistol on one of his trips to the Shelby County jail to visit his client, James Earl Ray.

Reached in Birmingham by The Press-Scimitar, Hanes said he made no attempt to conceal the weapon and voluntarily turned it over to sheriff's deputies before entering Ray's cell at the Shelby County jail.

"I had a gun on me. As soon as I walked into the building I displayed it and my briefcase, just as anybody else would. Hell, I wasn't trying to smuggle the thing in. That's ludicrous. The sheriff knows the true facts of the matter."

The report, however, raised eyebrows in the attorney general's office and set the stage for a possible new controversy involving the outspoken and flamboyant lawyer.

Said Robert K. Dwyer, executive assistant attorney general and one of the prosecutors in the case, "neither Mr. Hanes nor any other citizen has a right to go armed in Tennessee. It is a violation of the law. We are going to look into this situation."

The latest development came as a committee of eight Memphis attorneys appointed by Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle met today to study possible violations of his restrictions on "publicity" statements in the case.

ENCLOSURE

The committee was set up one day after Hanes held a news conference at Memphis Metropolitan Airport in which he declared that Ray, accused as assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King, was a victim of a "Communist left-wing conspiracy." Hanes also attacked a lack of privacy for Ray in the Shelby County jail.

Asked if he thought he had violated the court order, Hanes replied, "It would be mere speculation on my part. I know nothing about the committee except what I've been told by the press. As far as I know the committee may be checking on somebody else. I haven't heard any names mentioned."

Hanes had hinted earlier that he was taking "precautions" because of what he described as threats on his and his family's lives, but today was the first time that he has confirmed that he is going armed.

Hanes, resident of Birmingham and its former mayor, said he has a permit to carry a pistol in Alabama and that Shelby County Sheriff William N. Morris has a copy of the permit.

One source told this newspaper that the pistol was discovered when deputies searched Hanes, who apparently had forgotten he had it with him. "It really shook up the whole place," the source said.

"I didn't forget I had the gun. That's ridiculous. The first thing I did was to take my coat off and give them (the guards) the gun," said Hanes. "That's all there was to it.

"It's true that I'm not used to carrying guns," he added. "I have never carried one except when I was with the FBI, and in World War II when I was a PT boat skipper."

Dwyer said that Hanes' Alabama permit would not be valid in Tennessee. "The only way you can go armed legally in this state is to be deputized," said Dwyer.

Sheriff Morris confirmed Hanes' version of what happened. "He did come into the jail armed, but he turned in the weapon," said Morris.

Hanes also said he has made no arrangement with Russell X. Thompson, Mem-his attorney for Thompson to become associated with him in Ray's defense.

"I did talk to him but he is not associated with me, nor do I anticipate that he will be," said Hanes. "He is not authorized to comment on this case because in no way is he officially connected with it."

The lawyers on the committee named by Judge Battle are Don G. Owens, president of the Memphis and Shelby County Bar Association, Lucius Burch, Lee A. Hardison, J. Alan Hanover, Cooper Turner Jr., Leo J. Buchignani, James D. Causey and Leo Bearman Jr.

Judge Battle said the group met Sunday and again today and would report to him "as soon as possible."

The current court order prohibits persons connected with the case from making statements "prejudicial to a fair trial." Judge Battle modified the provisions of his earlier, stricter order against such persons talking about the case for "publicity" purposes.

Hanes, in charging that his client's rights of privacy were violated at the Shelby County jail, said:

"While I think Sheriff William Morris and his people are trying to protect my client's political rights, they are at the same time trampling his individual rights."

The lawyer placed particular emphasis on the constant surveillance by closed-circuit TV and 24-hour guards. He said Ray couldn't "even go to the bathroom" without being monitored by TV.
