a wrong number. The number given was the true number of the plane read backwards, as Mrs. COPE compared these numbers the following day.

During conversation while they were filling the plane with gas the pilot of the Cessna Skymaster commented that he had come to Blythe on his first long cross country flight, which he had started in San Jose, California. He also commented that he had just started flying last June but since that time had built up 600 hours of flight time.

After Mrs. COPE returned to her house trailer she noted that the Cessna did not start its engines or leave the airport for almost an hour. The man did not say where he was going, but mentioned that he did live in San Jose, California. He was very polite and considerate.

Mrs. COPE stated that Sergeant BUSBY of the Rialto, California Police Department had previously contacted her regarding this aircraft, which had been stolen at Rialto. He showed her numerous photographs but none of the photographs were identical with the man who brought the plane into Blythe. She felt certain she could positively identify him if she ever saw him again.

JEROME VERNON was contacted at Apartment B, 1246 Woodbury Court.

VERNON was shown two photographs of ERIC STARVO GALT; one with the eyes open and one with the eyes closed.

VERNON advised that he considered the photograph with the eyes open as the best of the two. He considered both photographs as only fair in comparison with his recollection of GALT the last time he saw him on or about March 14, 1968.

He stated that the face in the photograph with the eyes open appears to be more full than he recalled GALT. He thought possibly GALT might have lost weight from the time the photograph was taken and the last time he saw him. He advised that both photographs make GALT appear somewhat older than he recalled. He said that he had no recollection of GALT having a double chin as depicted in the photograph.

Also, he recalled that GALT, when he last saw him, possibly had a flattop type haircut.

Regarding his laundry records, VERNON advised that if the name GALT appeared in the records spelled "GAULT," this spelling would have been done by a clerk or someone accepting laundry. He stated that he had only one customer by the name of GALT that he recalled and that this person's name should be spelled GALT.

VERNON advised that he is working the swing shift at the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation at the Ontario Airport from 3:00 p.m. to midnight. He furnished his home phone as 985-7427.

Date April 15, 1968

MAURICE WARREN HOWARD, 2740 Pitcher Road, Los Angeles (Hollywood), California, was interviewed at his residence on April 11, 1968, at which time he furnished the following information:

Mr. HOWARD said he was formerly the owner of the Home Service Laundry and Dry Cleaning establishment, 5280 Hollywood Boulevard, Los Angeles, California. He said that he has been connected with the laundry business off and on for a period of many years.

On January 15, 1968, Mr. HOWARD sold the Home Service Laundry and Dry Cleaning on a 90 day escrow to JEROME VERNON, who was also known as JAY VERNON. He was introduced to Mr. VERNON by a friend of VERNON's mother. VERNON's mother was known to Mr. HOWARD for a number of years, as she has been in the laundry and dry cleaning business for a number of years. At the present time she operates a cleaning business connected with the Mayan Hotel, one block west of Vermont Avenue on west Eighth Street, Los Angeles. He believed the address of her business to be 3047 West Eighth Street, Los Angeles, California.

Mr. HOWARD consulted his personal telephone list and reported that he showed local number 249-3087 as the listing for JEROME VERNON and VERNON's wife, BONNIE VERNON. He said BONNIE worked for the City of Glendale, Glendale, California; and could be reached through her folks' telephone 248-2858. He described Mrs. JEROME VERNON as a beautiful blond. He said that it was his understanding that Mrs. JEROME VERNON put up $1500.00 of her own money, plus an additional $1500.00 that she borrowed from her parents, in order that her husband could have a down payment to go into escrow for the purchase of the laundry.

Prior to the close of the 90 day escrow, Mr. HOWARD had an early morning appointment with JEROME VERNON on March 25, 1968, to discuss the matter of the sale of the business. VERNON showed up for this appointment; but indicated he would like to get together again at 4:00 PM the same date, with their respective lawyers for further discussion of the sale. VERNON did not show up for the second appointment.

HOWARD said he subsequently learned, when he went to the cleaning shop, that JEROME VERNON had been to the shop, cleaned out the cash register of all cash, and locked the front door. Mr. HOWARD said that it was necessary for him to obtain the services of a lock man and to replace the lock, at a cost of $11.00. The store was then repossessed by the mortgage loan holder, a Mr. LOUIS PUTTERMAN (phonetic), and at the present time the ownership of the store is under litigation.

He said that there was a young adult female Caucasian, who worked in the dry cleaning shop for a very short time. He said that it was his understanding that Mr. VERNON had gone off with this woman, when he deserted the store on the last Monday in March, 1968. He did not know the woman's name; but described her as, "nice looking, blond, tall (about six feet), 'sexy', who frequently wore very short mini-skirts."

On Tuesday, March 26, 1968, he received a telephone call from Mr. VERNON, who did not disclose from where he was calling. He said that he was sorry that he had been unable to make the 4:00 PM appointment the previous day, but had had to go out of town to Camarillo, California, and did not get back in Los Angeles in time to meet the appointment. He did not make any arrangements to get together again. He said that he had not talked with his wife, when HOWARD asked if he had; but said he had been in contact with his mother.

Mr. HOWARD said there was no thermoseal laundry marking machine in the store at the time it went into escrow in January, 1968; and that he understood that the machine had been obtained about February 1, 1968.

He said that JEROME VERNON drove a red car; make not known. He also drove a blue van-type laundry truck; make not known.

Mr. HOWARD said the name of ERIC STARVO GALT was entirely unfamiliar to him.

Mr. BERNARDO RESTREPO, Apartment 102, Gramercy Park Apartments, 1831 North Gramercy Place, was contacted at his residence, and after being advised of the identity of the interviewing agents, he was questioned regarding the white male who had contacted him on the night of April 11, 1968.

RESTREPO advised that on the night of April 11, 1968, while he was sleeping, there was a knock on his apartment door. Because he was asleep he does not recall what time it was, other than it was during the night. When he answered the door there was a white male standing in the hallway. This man did not give his name, nor did he give the name of the person he was trying to locate; he just inquired if RESTREPO knew where the previous occupant of Apartment 102 was now living. RESTREPO told the man he did not know. That was the extent of their conversation.

RESTREPO described this man as follows:

Sex	Male
Race	White
Height	5'11" to 6'
Weight	175 to 180 pounds
Age	About 50 years
Hair	Black, which receded into "widow's peaks".
Appearance	Clean-looking

RESTREPO was shown the several artist's composite photographs of ERIC GALT, and after looking at them, stated he did not believe the man who had come to his apartment door on the night of April 11, 1968, resembled that individual depicted in the photographs.

seamen about electronics and astronomy, diagraming orbits and explaining moon rockets, etc. He was not especially witty or funny but all crew members made fun of him. When he started talking on a subject it became an obsession with him and he talked about such a subject night and day ad nauseam.

On the return trip from Vietnam the crew discussed an incident on shore in Vietnam in which a number of Negroes had beaten a white seaman at the Seaman's Club. FOTOS expressed strong anti-Negro feelings, and over a period of about a week he stated, 20 or 30 times, to the effect that someone was going to "get MARTIN LUTHER KING". He stated this in the company of many crewmen and often while sitting in the mess hall. SLY did not recall that he mentioned the name of any other Negro leader except KING.

He recalled that while the vessel was being unloaded at Cam Ranh Bay, the seamen were restricted except to visit the Seaman Club, however, he stated he saw FOTOS at a particular time riding with servicemen in a jeep around the base.

FOTOS was interested in the hobby of photography and usually carried a camera wherever he went. He stated he was interested in taking nude photographs of girls and had an accumulation of sex magazines. He stated FOTOS did not indicate he had been in Mexico but SLY once told him he had lived in Mexico and FOTOS express a desire to go to Guadalajara and that he would like to find women there who would pose for photographs.

He did not recall any conversation about the assassination of President KENNEDY, did not see any firearms in the possession of FOTOS and FOTOS did not appear especially fanatical but he was unpredictable and in his opinion would be capable of an assassination. SLY stated FOTOS had no particularly close associates on board but most of the crew were friendly to him although they made fun of him.

SLY stated he was unable to furnish a photograph of FOTOS.

SLY described FOTOS as follows:

Race	White
Nationality	American

ELDON RONALD SLY, 902 North Cabana, was interviewed and advised that he is a merchant seaman but presently he is employed as a guard for the Los Angeles County General Hospital, Los Angeles, California. He advised as follows:

He viewed a composite picture in the newspaper of the suspect killer of Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. and advised there is a good likeness to a seaman known to him as FOTOS, first name unknown. He stated he never knew that person to use the name of ERIC GALT.

Sly stated he served as a steward aboard the merchant vessel "American Victory", making a trip to Vietnam and returned January to March, 1967. Sly boarded the vessel at Wilmington, California and FOTOS was already aboard and he served as part of the deck crew and was rated as an "able bodied seaman" indicating that he had considerable sea experience. He assumed that FOTOS boarded the ship at New Orleans, Louisiana and it was possible FOTOS may have told him that he was from New Orleans, Louisiana. FOTOS mentioned he was familiar with the cities of Mobile, Alabama and New Orleans, Louisiana and mentioned some small town in Alabama, name not recalled. He was not sure if the name FOTOS was the true name, however, he had seen this name posted aboard ship spelled in the above manner. After the vessel returned to the United States, Sly disembarked at San Francisco, California, but FOTOS remained on board and he believed FOTOS intended to return to the port of New Orleans, Louisiana.

He stated the identity of FOTOS should be known at the Seafarer International Union at Wilmington, California. FOTOS never talked about his background and travels and seemed to avoid answering any question about this. He never mentioned being around the Los Angeles area.

FOTOS gave the impression of being educated or at least well informed and sometimes played the part of a professor aboard the vessel going to a blackboard and lecturing other
