SUBJECT: MURKIN

AT 11:10PM, 5/1/68, WILLIAM B. JAMES, negro, male, born [redacted] a cab driver for Coastline #278, presented himself at WFO and furnished the following information:

While working the WDC area this evening, JAMES picked-up a fare at 3304 Georgia Ave., NW, who resembled photo of JAMES EARL RAY. This fare gave his name to JAMES as being "JOSEPH STONE", residing at 607 C St., SE, WDC. JAMES dropped-off STONE at the above SE address at 10:45 pm, having earlier picked him up at the above Georgia Ave. address at about 10:30PM.

STONE wrote his name and address on a piece of paper for JAMES and asked that he pick him up again in the future at about the same time at the above Georgia Ave. address.

STONE said he was a mechanic for a laundry mat at above Georgia Ave. address.

JAMES said he thinks above man may have killed DR. KING, and accordingly JAMES does not want to have anything to do with the man. STONE also told JAMES that he (STONE) carries a gun.

JAMES said if FBI wishes to talk him again he can be reached at home phone # HU 3-3819.

JAMES said that STONE is white, male, age about 25, lisps when he talks, about 5' 4" tall, weighs about 170 lbs, is single, wore dirty clothes, was sober man, dark brown hair, and heavy build. Attached to this memo is handwriting of STONE, as given to JAMES by STONE while in cab. A and "Dangerous."

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds Regularly on the Payroll Savings Plan

More Clues Point to Plot to Kill Dr. King

MORE CLUES emerging in the hunt for Dr. Martin Luther King's slayer support the view that there was a conspiracy, and that the killers had been planning it for months.

There is strong indication now that the killer was the man who gave this name as Eric Starvo Galt, but that was likely an assumed name. Galt was positively identified by Peter N. Cherpes, manager of the Economy Grill and Rooms in Birmingham, Ala., where he roomed from last August to Oct. 7. The identification was made from a sketch made by FBI artists on the basis of a description by Memphis residents who saw Galt the day he checked in at the rooming house that served so conveniently for the murder.

The white Mustang registered in Galt's name, answering to the description of the killer's getaway car, was found abandoned in Atlanta on April 11.

From Cherpes and other sources, the trail to Galt involving Memphis, Atlanta, Birmingham, Pascagoula, Mobile and New Orleans, is a trail of phoney addresses, false information and mysterious moves at every turn. When he took his room in Birmingham, he said he was taking several months' vacation. Galt claimed he worked at the Ingalls Shipyard in Pascagoula. A check with the shipyard revealed there was no man of that name who worked there.

When he obtained his driver's license in Birmingham last September, he said he had a license in Louisiana. A check showed no Louisiana license for any Galt.

Cherpes accompanied Galt to a Birmingham drivers' testing ground. He disclosed that a duplicate license for Galt was received at his address on March 1. Alabama's Highway Patrol confirmed that a man named Eric Galt phoned in late February claiming loss of license and requesting a duplicate, which was sent.

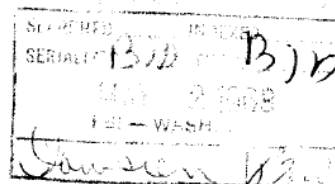

Galt was described as a quiet man who kept to himself. When he left the Birmingham rooming house, he said he was to take a job in Mobile.

The new details, taken together with the disclosure that, minutes after the killing, false police reports were sent out over the same radio frequency used by Memphis police, deliberately designed to divert police chasers to a different direction, leave no doubt that some elaborate plotting was under way.

The new developments have silenced Attorney General Ramsey Clark, who for some days after the killing issued statements declaring the killing was the work of one man acting alone, and that no conspiracy was evident.

The FBI undoubtedly has much material that is not known publicly. The gun and binoculars the killer left on the street near the scene of the killing, the car impounded in Atlanta, were undoubtedly scrutinized for fingerprints, of which tens of millions are in FBI files.

March of Poor to Go Through Memphis

near the Memphis rooming house.

- A check showed the car was owned by one Eric Starvo Galt who took a driver's license test Sept. 6, 1967 at Montgomery, Ala. He gave his occupation as a seaman. He bought the Mustang Aug. 30, 1967, in Birmingham. Last March 1, Galt applied for a duplicate of his driver's license. The FBI is trying to chase down the several addresses given by Galt. His license record showed that he was born in [redacted] was five feet, 11 inches tall, and weighs about 175 pounds.

- Rolando Veloz Canales, the Mexican consul at Memphis, disclosed that a young man answering the description given of the killer, had gotten a permit to travel to Mexico just a day before the killing. The address and telephone number he gave in his application proved to be false. Veloz said he gave the information to the FBI on the Friday after King's death, but it was not until the following Tuesday that the FBI came to him to check the information.

- The FBI sent out a bulletin in Florida that it was looking for Galt. But when the notice received publicity, the FBI withdrew it.

- The Rev. Jesse Jackson, Chicago Negro leader, who was with Dr. King when the bullet struck, said he rejected the theory that the killing was the act of a lone person. He said at a news conference in Chicago that when the shot was fired there were many police around the motel where Dr. King stayed. "I only saw police coming towards me from the direction of the shot," he said.

- Solomon Jones Jr., who was King's driver, said he saw a white man with "something white" leaping out of the bushes across the street from the balcony on which King stood, immediately after the shot was fired. He believes there was a conspiracy involving more than one person. Jones asked how it was possible to plan the action in so short a time. King stayed in that motel for only one day. He also asked why the killer would discard his rifle and binoculars in full view of at least four persons.

Meanwhile there was also evidence that the racists of America helped both to fire up an atmosphere for the murder of King and later to cover the tracks of the killers.

The Pittsburgh Catholic, a weekly, in its April 5 issue in a story about the events before the killing, quoted Senator Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, chairman of the District of Columbia Appropriations Committee, as having said of King's Poor Peoples march on the floor of the Senate:

"If this self-seeking rabble rouser is allowed to go through with his plans here, Washington may well be treated to the same kind of violence, destruction, looting and bloodshed" as Memphis.

Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, said "Washington would do well to study the Memphis riots."

The Wall Street Journal, summarizing the conspiracy theories on the King assassination, lists the statement of the notorious racist, Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia, that the Communists "done him in" and that he would continue to cling to that belief until the killer was caught. At the other, no less ridiculous extreme, WSJ lists the allegations that a Negro nationalist group, calling itself the "Revolutionary Action Movement" and facing trial for allegedly planning to kill "moderate" Negro leaders, was the source of the assassination.

"Who pulled the trigger is unimportant," said the Rev. Andrew Young, vice-chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. "The thing that matters is that it was done by the people in the North and the South who constantly discredited Dr. King. They set him up as a target; the killer only pulled the trigger."

The Rev. James Bevel, also quoted in WSJ, said:

"Let the white men play their game about looking for the killer. Are we supposed to believe they really care about who killed Dr. King when the biggest business of the U.S. government is in killing non-whites in Vietnam?"

Plot Seen in King Killing

By GEORGE MORRIS

ATTORNEY GENERAL Ramsey Clark's much publicized snap conclusion that the assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King acted "alone" is becoming effectively discredited as details about the search for the killer indicate there was an elaborately planned conspiracy.

Charges of slowness by Memphis police in the chase after the assassin in a white Mustang are also getting louder.

Less than a day after the murder, Clark, who took personal charge of the case, began to issue daily bulletins that the FBI was "hot" on the trail, that evidence was "abundant," and that an arrest was "near" or "very near." Eleven days after the killing, there is still no arrest and the case seems more confused and surrounded by more mystery.

So disturbing is the situation that Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Ohio leveled a sharp attack at Clark last week for having concluded that there was no conspiracy.

The New York Times has put a man on the case in Memphis. The paper noted that a deliberately faked police report broadcast a half hour after the killing, which alleged that a police car was chasing the killer in a "blue Mustang" and had exchanged shots with him, "give impetus to speculation that the civil rights leader was the victim of a conspiracy."

Those false reports, apparently aimed at throwing the police off the trail, were clearly heard by WMC-TV, a Memphis TV station. Lieutenant R. W. Bradshaw, who drove Police Car 160, the car that allegedly chased the get-away Mustang, refused to say anything publicly. Frank C. Holoman, director of the Memphis police, said only that that angle was being investigated.

Another element in the picture is the report that there were two white Mustangs parked near the rooming house where the killer checked in.

Even Clark had conceded that the .30-06 Remington rifle and the binoculars which the killer left behind in a suitcase in full view of several persons, may have been also a deliberate move to provide false evidence. The one bullet found, while matching the Remington rifle, was so shattered that it was doubtful there could be a definite check as to whether it came out of that rifle.

So far, there have been the following definite developments:

- A white 1966 Mustang was found which had been abandoned for several days in Atlanta. The car fitted the general description given of the car that was parked now positive suspect, James Earl Ray, an escaped Missouri penitentiary convict, with the "Cottonmouth Mocassins," but officials do now maintain that Ray, who uses the alias "Eric Starvo Galt," is probably a hired gunman.

Giving more impetus to the "hired killer" theory, was a headline on the April 19, Phila. Daily News — one of the only Delaware Valley, Metropolitan area papers to streamer the story — which stated:

"Missing Minuteman Chief Put King on Death List."

The paper cited as its source a "U.S. Aide," and named Assistant U.S. Attorney Anthony P. Nugent Jr., of Kansas City, Mo.

Nugent, in a motion filed with the 8th Circuit in St. Louis, the News quotes Nugent as charging that Robert B. DePugh, chief of the Minutemen, a gun and pistol club which claimed it was arming to fight Communism, had ordered the assassination of Dr. King, H. Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael.

DePUGH, says the News article, "is missing." He convicted for violation of the National Firearms Act, in Kansas City in November, 1966.

The Missouri U.S. Attorney added, in the item, that DePugh is not a suspect in the King assassination.

ANOTHER significant item occurred in New Jersey just two months after the Mississippi sheriff read the plot statement in the Adams County court, when in June of 1967, a huge Klan rally took place on a farm down in the Gloucester, Salem, Camden and Ocean County area.

A brimstone and fire address by Penna. Grand Dragon Earl Frankhauser, and New Jersey King Kleagle Frank Rotella Jr., a fired N.Y. Transit bus driver, both championing the cause of white supremacy, was punctuated by jeers and hoots from about 30 colored youths who crashed the meeting.

Jersey Gov. Richard Hughes had just signed into law a bill that marked cross-burning as a crime, after several flaming crosses had been ignited in a few towns in the colored residential area. The congregation of a Paulsboro, N.J. Baptist Church were harrassed with cross-burnings near the edifice.

But the highlight of the Jersey Klan meeting of June 1967, was the "hanging" of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., in effigy.

One of the untold mysteries of the King assassination, or the information is being withheld by Southern Christian Leadership Council officials, is Dr. King's reference in his last and almost prophetic sermon the night before his death, to the "sick white friends," he said "were out to get me."

Was He At Crispus Attucks Parade?

King's Killer May Have Stalked Him In Newark

By BOB QUEEN
(AFRO Staff Correspondent)

NEWARK, N.J. — The N. J. AFRO-AMERICAN learned this week that the alleged slayer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., probably stalked the Southern Christian Leadership Council leader in Newark, but got the dates of his appearance here mixed up thinking he was going to be present at the Crispus Attucks Day Parade on March 24!

It is known that both law enforcement agencies and a national magazine suddenly became interested in viewing every photo possible, taken at the huge Attucks Day parade — especially among the crowds around the City Hall reviewing stand.

But Dr. King appeared in Newark on the day before his ill-fated flight to Memphis.

THAT ASSASSINS had been trailing King became public knowledge as far back as April, 1967, when a Mississippi sheriff testifying against a white man accused in the fatal shooting of an elderly colored man, read a statement that members of the "Cottonmouth Moccasin" gang, had tried to lure Dr. King to Natchez where he would be the target of a sniper.

It was at the trial for 57-year-old James Jones, charged in the slaying of Ben Chester White whose shot-riddled body was found in a creek near Natchez, that Adams County Sheriff Odell Anders, read the revealing statement.

In the statement, Sheriff Anders quoted another suspect in the case, one of three charged, one Claude Fuller, as saying the shooting of Ben White was an effort to draw attention away from Meredith's Freedom March against fear, and lure King to Natchez. Also charged in the slaying was Ernest Avant, both of whom were at Jones' trial wearing cowboy boots and on the outside sported 10-gallon hats.

The defendants were given separate trials.

THE ALLEGED plot in 1967 to liquidate Dr. King apparently backfired when instead, James Meredith was fired upon and wounded near the ill-fated site of the King assassination. Earlier reports on the latter shooting were that King had been rushed to the same hospital as Meredith.

The plotters also found out that Dr. King and his SCLC officers were not able to personally respond to every atrocity committed against black individuals.

The present information known to the AFRO, doesn't link the "Cottonmouth Moccasin" gang of 1967 with the Memphis assassination, but law enforcement sources over the past week hint that possibly a near dozen conspirators were acting in concert on the April 4 shooting when King stepped out on his motel balcony.

NEITHER has there been any link between the FBI's

Pal says Ray was $ hungry

DALTON, Ga. (UPI) — A prison buddy of James Earl Ray said Tuesday that when Ray heard there was a "million-dollar bounty" on Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., he smiled and said, "I'll collect it."

Ray, a 40-year-old fugitive from the Missouri State Prison, is accused by the FBI of assassinating Dr. King in Memphis on April 4.

In the Dalton jail, Raymond Curtis, 40, awaiting appeal on a murder sentence, said he has known Ray in the Kansas City Jail, in Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., and in the State prison at Jefferson City, Mo.

He described Ray as likeable, addicted to "dope" a "loner" and a man concerned only with money.

On the day President Kennedy was assassinated — Nov. 23, 1963—Curtis said he, Ray, and about 150 other prisoners were in an exercise yard when they heard the news.

He said Ray remarked, "Well, somebody made a pretty penny on that."

About a week later, Curtis said, he and Ray were in the yard when "a new man just in off the street" told them "the Businessmen's Association has a million dollar bounty out for Martin Luther King."

Ray smiled, Curtis recalled, and said, "If there's a million dollars out for King, I believe if I ever get out I'll collect it."

Curtis said he never figured out what the "new man" meant by the "Businessmen's Association." he couldn't remember who the man was.

"I didn't think much about it at the time. In prison, you hear all sorts of hellacious ideas," said Curtis, a tall, rawboned man.

Authorities in Jefferson City confirmed that Curtis and Ray were in prison at the same time. Authorities in Dalton said the FBI had interviewed Curtis on Sunday and again Monday night. It refused comment on the matter.

Curtis said Ray told him "he always carried a gun. He was always interested in money," Curtis said, but never mentioned racial matters.

"He never made no statements of any kind in a group," Curtis said. "He was a loner."

Ray couldn't "make a long conversation unless he was planning something," said Curtis. "If he was planning something, you could bet they'd be thorough plans."

Ray, he said, master-minded things "that would be small things outside, but were pretty big jobs in prison"—such as the theft of eggs and drugs and cigarettes.

He said Ray told him that if he ever wanted to kill someone, he would buy a gun under a false name and have everything ready for an escape. "He used to talk a lot about escaping to New Zealand, Brazil and Argentina," Curtis said.

"I wouldn't consider him dangerous" Curtis said. "He didn't look for trouble."

"Of course, I'm not saying he wouldn't shoot you if you ran up on him now."

Asked about Ray's habits, Curtis said, "He talked about beer — he liked beer, I knew that." He said he never heard him talk about dancing, but that he "did a lot of weightlifting" at Jefferson City.

"I never heard him do much cussing. I just saw him get mad once and that was in a poker game. He liked to play poker. His favorite game was lowball."

"He talked about having lots of women. None special. He'd pick'em up and leave'em," Curtis said.

"You could pick him out of a crowd of 2,000 men in the prison yard. He would be off to himself walking and his mind would be somewhere else."

Curtis, convicted of shooting a man in the hold-up of a poker game here last year, said when he heard of King's Death he did not connect it with Ray because he didn't know Ray had escaped prison.

If others were in the plot with Ray, Curtis said, Ray "would go to his grave with the secret."

"From what he said, I would consider he was an expert with a gun, Curtis said.

Mexican Police Hold Baltimorean

Quizzed in Slayer Hunt

CABORCA, Mexico, April 25 (UPI) — Police today said they have arrested a bearded hitchhiker from Baltimore, in their hunt for a suspect in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

They said they arrested Daniel D. Kennedy at a cafe yesterday in this town 80 miles southwest of Nogales, Ariz., questioned him for 12 hours in his $5-a-night hotel room and then drove him in handcuffs to the Sonora State capital of Hermosillo, 120 miles to the south.

Hotel Manager Carlos Valancia Beltran told UPI he had told police his guest resembled pictures of James Earl Ray, wanted by the FBI in connection with Dr. King's slaying.

In Washington more than 12 hours after Mr. Kennedy was handcuffed the FBI said that "there has been no arrest" in the hunt for Ray. In Baltimore, Mr. Kennedy's mother called the arrest "impossible." She said, "he's just a skinny old thing" and only a "blind man" would say her son resembled Mr. Ray.

WON PURPLE HEART

Mr. Kennedy's mother, Pearl, 68, said he was awarded the Purple Heart in combat in Germany during World War II. "He's a mixed-up kid and wouldn't hurt a fly, she added. He couldn't hold a job because of his war wounds, she said.

Mrs. Kennedy said her son "was especially partial to colored people and thought they were not getting a fair break. That's one of the reasons he decided to go to Mexico."

"I wired him $30 yesterday," she said.

There was no word of any formal charge being placed against Mr. Kennedy by Mexican Authorities.

The hitchhiker registered at Caborca's San Carlos Hotel under the name of Daniel David Kennedy, 42, of 548 East 38th St., Baltimore. Police said his U.S. passport was numbered 8527475.

MAKES ARREST

Lt. Roberto Fletcher of the Mexican police made the arrest and led the questioning in the hotel room. He surrounded the hotel with officers armed with pistols.

Police said they found no weapons on Mr. Kennedy nor any in the pack he carried on his back.

Mr. Beltran said Mr. Kennedy told him he entered Mexico at the Arizona border town of Nogales. He checked into the hotel Tuesday at 11 p.m., Mr. Beltran said. Wednesday, Mr. Kennedy asked about placing a telephone call to an unidentified person in Baltimore, the hotel manager said.

SAW TATTOO

The manager watched his guest closely. He said Mr. Kennedy has a tattoo "something like a monkey" on his left arm.

When Mr. Kennedy stepped out of Room 22 yesterday, Mr. Beltran phoned police.

Lt. Fletcher arrived. Mr. Beltran said Mr. Kennedy had stepped out, possibly to a nearby cafe. At the cafe, Lt. Fletcher found Mr. Kennedy seated at a table, drinking.

According to Mr. Beltran, Lt. Fletcher handcuffed the American almost immediately. Shortly thereafter, Lt. Fletcher and another officer led Mr. Kennedy back to Room 22.

The interrogation that began in midafternoon lasted until 3:30 a.m. today. Then Lt. Fletcher led Mr. Kennedy down the staircase and into the car, saying he was taking the American to Hermosillo.

Did Dr. King's Killer Feel He Was on 'Divine Mission?' c

Plot Against Rights Leaders Feared

ATLANTA, April 25 (UPI) — The Rev. Ralph Abernathy said yesterday the killer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. may have felt that he was on a "divine mission," and speculated there might be a conspiracy to kill civil rights leaders.

Dr. Abernathy, Dr. King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said he was not as concerned about the killer "as I am about the climate in this country that produced him."

"I would pray for him and ask that he be forgiven, for he knows not what he does," said Dr. Abernathy. "But the countless others who feel the way this person felt?"

"There may be a conspiracy taking place in our country to actually defeat our movement . . . by picking off our leaders one by one," Dr. Abernathy said. "If that's the case, we must put a stop to it." He added, however, that he had no specific evidence of such a conspiracy.

Regardless, Dr. Abernathy indicated, the SCLC was continuing its programs.

King Suspect a Juvenile Bad Boy

By Drew Pearson
and Jack Anderson

If you go back far enough into the life of James Earl Ray, wanted for the assassination of Martin Luther King, you will find the reason which started him on the road to crime was what starts most crime in the United States—juvenile delinquency.

When Ray was a boy going to school at Ewing, Mo., in the 9th grade, he stole the school's hot-lunch money, and tried to blame it on a classmate, Carlyle Washburn.

That was Ray's first brush with the law. From this first escapade he went from bad to worse. Every time he got into jail it was for a longer term for a worse crime, until he ended with the murder which brought near civil war to the key cities of America and forced the calling out of 21,000 troops.

This week the top leaders of Washington are attending a dinner to raise money for Big Brothers, which throughout the United States attempts to guide fatherless boys. There are 20,000 fatherless boys in and around the Nation's Capital, thousands more in the rest of the Nation. All of them are basically good boys, and with guidance none are likely to go wrong. Without guidance some of them will.

All the specialists report that the family plays the most important part in building a child. He can be raised in the slums, in abject poverty, even without much education, and if he has a strong father and mother he will not only survive but become a constructive citizen.

Some of the Nation's leaders of today have emerged from the East Side of New York, where strong Jewish families from Eastern Europe made sure that their children were brought up right.

The American system unfortunately destroyed the Negro father. There were no Negro fathers in slave days, and the welfare system of today has decreed there must not be a man in the home. This is the greatest cause of juvenile crime in the major cities and the major challenge of America.

Sinatra Returns

Frankie Sinatra is coming back to the Nation's Capital this week for the first time since he sang for John F. Kennedy on the famous night Kennedy was inaugurated President of the United States, Jan. 20, 1961. Sinatra is coming back with his full Hotel Fontainebleau musical show to help raise money for Big Brothers.

In Washington, Charlie Cohen, now 80 years old and once a power in the American Legion, remembers when Sinatra was singing with Tommy Dorsey. Frank was relatively new in the music world then and was Dorsey's vocalist.

This was during World War II when Cohen, a veteran of World War I, was chairman of the American Legion's war bond drive in the District of Columbia.

Sinatra confided to Cohen what most people don't know—how he had tried to enlist in World War II but was rejected because the medics found he had a punctured eardrum. Sinatra never explained this publicly, but Cohen remembers vividly how upset Frank was at that time.

HHH Invades Ole Miss

Hubert Humphrey's invasion of Mississippi last week indicates the amazing changes which have taken place in the South.

Most people have forgotten it but in 1948 Humphrey almost bolted the Democratic Convention in Chicago when his fellow Democrats refused to go for civil rights. At that time, Mississippi delegates were among the most vigorous in opposing Humphrey.

Twenty years later, Humphrey flew to "Ole Miss" at Oxford to breakfast with an integrated group of Mississippians, including Charles Evers, brother of the slain Medgar Evers of the NAACP; Dr. Aaron Henry, the Negro drug-gist who ran for Governor; and white Lt. Gov. Charles Sullivan, together with representatives of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish churches.

"In the worst of times you must do the best of things," the Vice President said, referring to racial accusations against Mississippians. "When you are accused of the worst, you must do the best."

Merry-Go-Round

The Bobbysoxers play for keeps. Mrs. Art Buchwald, who is on the Committee for the Big Brothers dinner, finds she can't sell tickets to the supporters of Bobby Kennedy. They say that the president of Big Brothers is not for Bobby so they are not for the dinner.

Congressmen who voted for the open housing provision in the latest civil rights bill are getting a storm of mail from angry realtors. In some states the mail indicates that people are more worried about open housing than the war in Vietnam. . . . The politicians complain that HHH hasn't developed his staff work yet. When they telephone offering their support for Humphrey, they get no calls back from anyone. . . .

Sen. Ernest Gruening of Alaska is swinging the Alaska delegation for Humphrey. This could be important. Alaska votes second at the Democratic Convention, and if Alabama, the first state, goes to Wallace, it means that the second state will go to Humphrey.

SUBJECT: JAMES EARL RAY, Aka.

Complaint

On 4/24/68, Mr. JOHN H. WILSON, JR. Veterans Administration, Building 159, Navy Yard Annex, 2nd and M Streets, S.E., Washington, D. C., telephonically advised that about a week or more prior to the assassination of Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING, he received a long distance telephone call from a woman. This woman asked if the Veterans Administration had a record of an ERIC STARVO GALT. WILSON checked for a record and told the woman they had no record. The woman also mentioned that she had sent in a telegram requesting the record check but had received no reply, so she was asking by telephone. WILSON could not further identify the woman caller but did determine from "Miss FRANKLIN" in his office that they had received the telegram. WILSON did not know what became of the telegram and assumes it is somewhere in Veterans Administration files.

WILSON also said that he paid no more attention to the call until last week when he happened to recall the incident. He said he asked his supervisor on Friday, 4/19/68, if he should tell the FBI. The supervisor said he would think about it and then said nothing more to WILSON. WILSON said that this information he has now given was without his supervisor's authority and he is somewhat concerned about his supervisor finding out he acted without authority.

The Search

Weird Trail of King's Killer

MEMPHIS—Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation last week continued to study almost too much evidence as they sought to trace the long-nosed man who they believed murdered the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. more than three weeks ago.

The trail of evidence extended across the entire country, and the story which unfolded from the clues gathered by hundreds of F.B.I. agents seemed in some instances to tell conflicting stories.

For at least two weeks, there have been two separate investigations, one centered in Alabama and one centered in Alabama and Georgia. F.B.I. agents have been investigating two Eric Starvo Galt, two rifles, two white Mustang cars, two drivers' licenses, and an airplane ticket. Some thought this might have been the result of a deliberate attempt by the murderer and possible accomplices to lay down false and conflicting trails.

The F.B.I. has not indicated if it has uncovered a motive for Dr. King's murder. But there has been speculation within the agency that it was a hired killing. Two businessmen, one in Birmingham and one in New Orleans, have been mentioned privately as possible sources of the several thousands of dollars which Galt spent between last August and April of this year.

The Birmingham News said in a story a week ago that it had learned that the F.B.I. thought that Galt may have escaped from the United States and made his way to Cuba. "If he's still alive," the F.B.I. informant added, according to the News.

Clerk Saw Him

Galt apparently was alive at least up until the day of Dr. King's funeral. A clerk at a hotel in Atlanta said that he had rented a room to Galt the day before the funeral and that two blonde women joined him. The F.B.I. confiscated three glasses from the room to test them for fingerprints.

Dr. King was shot to death at 6:01 P.M. in Memphis, Tenn., on April 4, 1968, by a bullet fired from a Remington 30.06 caliber rifle. A rifle of this description was stolen from a Memphis gun dealer on April 2, 1968, by Eric Starvo Galt. The Birmingham rifle was found outside the Memphis flophouse where the shot was fired which killed Dr. King as he stood on the balcony of a motel a block away.

The young white man with a pointed nose, who the F.B.I. said shot Dr. King, drove away from the scene of the murder in a white Mustang. Another white Mustang parked about 200 feet further down the same Memphis street drove away about 10 minutes later.

A man using the name Eric Starvo Galt bought a white Mustang in Birmingham on Aug. 30, 1967. He paid $1,995 for it to the sales manager of a Birmingham lumber firm. This car was abandoned on April 5 in Atlanta and impounded by the F.B.I. on April 11.

Two Remember Galt

In the car there were some trading stamps which were traced through the manufacturer to a Standard Oil service station in Birmingham. The station is near the Economy Grill and Rooms where Galt lived for six weeks last summer and fall. At the station, two attendants remembered Galt. They said he bought gasoline there and that they had done minor repairs on the car. The Mustang, the attendants said, also needed some work on its clutch. The white Mustang which Galt bought from Mr. Paisley did not have a clutch. It had an automatic shift. Were it not for the trading stamps, agents might have dismissed the service station's attendants statements as a case of mistaken identity.

Eric Starvo Galt bought an Alabama driver's license last September when he was creating his false identity. He took the test on Sept. 6 and got his permanent license mailed to him on Sept. 30. Last March 1, when Galt was finishing up a bartender's course in Hollywood, Calif., Alabama was asked to send him a duplicate of the license. The duplicate was mailed to the Economy Grill and Rooms in Birmingham, and although Galt was in California the duplicate license was received and a bill accompanying it was returned to the driver's license division in Montgomery along with 25 cents.

For several days, investigators had assumed that Dr. King's slayer had driven to Memphis in a white Mustang. Now, there is some suggestion that he may have flown. An employee of Delta Airline in Birmingham said that a man answering Galt's description flew from Birmingham to Memphis on April 3 on Delta Flight 525, a jet which goes between Birmingham and Chicago. The man bought a ticket to Chicago but left the plane at Memphis when it arrived shortly before 2 P.M. on April 3.

F.B.I. agents spent several hours questioning luggage handlers about the April 3 flight; they wanted to know if any of them had seen a suitcase which could have had a rifle in it. A Delta official agreed last week to check the airline's manifest to see if Galt or any of his aliases were shown as a passenger that day. The official reported that the F.B.I. had confiscated the manifest not only at the Birmingham office but also at headquarters of Delta in Atlanta.

Different Descriptions

Varied physical descriptions of Galt have been widely reported. The Birmingham Galt was a quiet, almost shy man who did not drink. The California Galt who took a bartender's course and dancing lessons was a loudmouth who drank vodka and orange juice at dingy Hollywood bars.

The F.B.I. said it had determined through fingerprint comparisons that Galt was really James Earl Ray, a convict who escaped from a Missouri prison in April, 1967. Last Thursday, the warden at the Missouri prison said that when Ray escaped last year an erroneous set of fingerprints was circulated to law enforcement agencies. The warden said a new set of prints was sent out later but law enforcement officials in Georgia and Alabama said they never received the second set.

The F.B.I. did not comment. To complicate matters further, no one who knew the California Galt or the Birmingham Galt has been able to recognize any of Ray's photographs.

F.B.I.'s Belief

Reconciling the conflicting evidence apparently has posed no problem for the F.B.I. It was said in Washington last Friday, in a not-for-attribution statement, that it still believes that there was only one Eric Starvo Galt and that he was James Earl Ray, the escaped Missouri convict. The fingerprints of the two men match, the F.B.I. said.

Earlier, there had been information leaks from the F.B.I. that the fingerprints found on the rifle dropped on the Memphis street had been tested and had been found to be those of Ray.

HUNTED MAN: The F.B.I. has added this flyer to its "10 most wanted" list, saying that Ray, under the alias Eric Starvo Galt, is the prime suspect in the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. But new conflicting evidence last week suggested there may be more than one "Galt."

Galt Trip From Coast to New Orleans

By MARTIN WALDRON
Special to The New York Times

LOS ANGELES, April 25—James Earl Ray, accused by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of conspiracy in the murder of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was reported to have driven last December from Los Angeles to New Orleans to talk business with "a man with an Italian name."

Charles Stein a bearded song writer, said that he had made the trip with Eric Starvo Galt, said by the F.B.I. to be an alias of Ray's. Mr. Stein said in an interview that Galt had told him the man's name, "but I don't remember right now what it was."

"But it was a man with an Italian name and he either lived on the industrial canal in New Orleans or he had a business there," Mr. Stein said.

There are scores of businesses but no residences on the New Orleans industrial canal, which is part of the Mississippi River port facilities.

Complaint Filed

Dr. King was fatally wounded by a rifle bullet in Memphis April 4. A complaint filed by Joseph H. Gamble, F.B.I. agent in Birmingham, said that Galt, with an "alleged brother," had conspired to violate Dr. King's civil rights.

A week ago, in discussing the trip he had taken with Galt Mr. Stein said that Galt had driven to New Orleans as a favor to Mrs. Rosas to pick up two of the widow's daughters, who were staying in New Orleans with relatives.

Mr. Stein said that Galt had agreed to make the trip if Mr. Stein and his sister would sign a petition seeking to get the name of former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama on the California ballot as a Presidential candidate.

Mrs. Rosas said that she and her brother had signed the Wallace petitions because they were both from the Deep South, not because they had wanted a favor from Galt.

Mrs. Rosas said that Galt had been discussing his proposed trip to New Orleans in a Hollywood bar where she worked. She said she had told him about her two daughters in New Orleans and that he had invited her to go with him and bring them back.

On Dec. 15, when the trip was to begin, Galt came by her house to pick her up, she said, but she said that she had not intended to go and asked Galt if her brother could go instead. Galt readily agreed, she said.

Mr. Stein said that he and Galt drove straight through to New Orleans without stopping for the night. Galt, he said, drank many cans of beer on the way.

"We would stop and get a six-pack and he would drink it while he was driving," Mr. Stein said.

Mr. Stein said that Galt reported having talked to the man he had driven almost 2,000 miles to see. Mr. Stein added that Galt seemed to be "pleased."

"He wanted to leave and drive right back to Los Angeles," Mr. Stein said.

Mr. Stein, who once lived in New Orleans, said that he had prevailed on Galt to stay over for a couple of days while he visited relatives.

Records at the Provincial Motel in New Orleans showed that Galt stayed three days, Dec. 17 through Dec. 19, in a $12-a-day room.

Mr. Stein said that he and his widowed sister, Mrs. Rita Rosas, 30 years old, with whom he lives in Hollywood, have been questioned numerous times by F.B.I. agents about the trip.

"They are now saying I am the key to this thing, who may have paid for it," Mr. Stein said.

He would not elaborate.

Mrs. Rosas said last night that she was interviewed several hours yesterday by agents.

"They asked me all kind of things, like did I think Eric Galt was capable of murder," she said. "Everybody is capable of murder, but I don't believe the Eric Galt I knew shot Dr. King."

Mr. Stein said that he had spent $35 for gasoline and food but that Galt had not seemed worried about money.

In New Orleans, Mr. Stein took Galt to meet Mr. Stein's sister, Mrs. Marie Lee. Mrs. Lee said today that the pictures released by the F.B.I. of Ray, an escaped convict from Missouri did not appear to be those of Galt.

s Recalled by Companion

The bureau has said that it found that Galt and Ray were the same person through fingerprints.

Mr. Stein, 38, said that he could not disclose all the details of his conversation with Galt during the trip to New Orleans. He said that he had an offer from a magazine for exclusive rights to his story.

Mr. Stein said that Galt had stopped several times in Texas on the way to New Orleans to make long-distance telephone calls.

International Hunt Opens

HONG KONG, April 25 (UPI)—The F.B.I. has begun an international search for information on the whereabouts of James Earl Ray. The United States Consulate General issued a statement today saying that the bureau has asked assistance in "giving the fullest possible publicity" to information about the suspect.

A consulate spokesman said similar requests had been made through United States diplomatic missions in a number of countries.

Mexico Frees Suspect

HERMOSILLO, Mexico, April 25 (AP)—An American arrested by Mexican officials because they thought he resembled pictures of the man wanted in the slaying of Dr. King was released today after questioning.

Daniel David Kennedy, 41 years old, of Baltimore, praised the Mexicans upon his release. He had been detained 24 hours after the police in nearby Caborca arrested him.

"I guess anyone else would be mad, but I can't be angry with these people," Mr. Kennedy said. "They thought I looked like James Ray and they were only doing their duty."

Mr. Kennedy was hiking to Baja California. He said he had done various jobs throughout the country.

Check on Ray A-9

Australia has been asked by the FBI to make a "routine check" of whether James Earl Ray, sought in the murder of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has applied for a visa to go to that country.

An Embassy official here emphasized that "Australian authorities have no evidence at all that the person concerned (Ray) is in Australia."

American sources also underscored the routine nature of the request. They said it would be logical to assume that similar requests had or would be made of other nations in which Ray might seek refuge. The FBI had no comment on the embassy official's statement.
